FLOOD & WATER DAMAGE CLEAN-UP

Vinci Response understands that speed of response is critical when it comes to flood and water damage. If you act fast, you can mitigate secondary damage. Our team has the knowledge and experience to handle the most demanding challenges.

HOW WE CAN HELP

We will arrange a suitable time with you to visit and conduct a site survey and loss assessment. Work can be carried out immediately after the site survey if required. Our team will identify and locate the source of the escape of water before starting the extraction process from your building (walls, ceilings, floors). We use various methods and equipment depending on your scenario – this will help prevent secondary damage.

OUR EXPERTISE

When water enters a building, the immediate impact can be devastating. Expensive and treasured possessions can be destroyed if covered or fully submerged. Water absorbed into a building can also cause structural damage. Rot, mould and other harmful pathogens can be potentially dangerous to humans and animals.

Our technicians can help identify these risks, as well as the type of water affecting a property:

Clean water

Free from bacteria and pathogens.

Grey water

Free from faecal matter but can still pose health risks.

Black water

Typically contains raw sewage and therefore bacteria, pathogens and other toxic substances.

Who we work with

- > Homeowners
- > Tenants
- > Landlords
- > Business Owners
- > Insurers

SEWAGE CLEAN UP

Vinci Response offers a fast and comprehensive service for all types of sewage clean-up for both home and business owners. When finding sewage in your property, it's imperative that you act quickly to mitigate further damage and prevent associated ill health.

HOW WE CAN HELP

At Vinci Response, we understand that sewage spills and leaks can be significant health hazards and can cause damage to your property. That's why we offer sewage cleaning services that are prompt, effective, and safe. Our team of experts is equipped with the latest technology and equipment to ensure that we can quickly clean up the sewage and restore your property to its pre-incident condition. We pride ourselves on providing excellent customer service and working closely with our clients to meet their needs with minimal disruption. With technicians available across the UK, you can have peace of mind knowing that we are here to help when you need it the most.

OUR EXPERTISE

Vinci Response has years of experience with cleaning commercial and domestic properties affected by sewage. Our team of experts has the knowledge and skills to handle even the most challenging sewage clean-up jobs. Sewage can contain traces of E.coli, faecal markers and blood-borne pathogens, all of which can be potentially harmful to humans and animals. Our technicians are fully accredited and have undergone extensive training to understand the potential hazards. They will remove these pathogens using air and surface decontamination and a process called advanced PCO (photocatalytic oxidisation) to eliminate odours.

Benefits

- > Professional sewage clean-up can minimise the disruption to your business or home.
- > Potential costs of repairs can be reduced.
- > Our trained experts will remove any potentially harmful pathogens that could otherwise risk serious illness and structural damage.

WATER DAMAGE DRYING SOLUTIONS

Not only can water damage threaten the physical infrastructure of the building, but it can also destroy personal and professional belongings, costing you time, money and potential heartbreak. That is why our water damage drying team work quickly and efficiently to help repair and prevent further deterioration of flooded buildings.

OUR EXPERTISE

Vinci Response offers a range of drying solutions to meet various needs, including:

Construction drying

Involves removing moisture from building materials and structures. This is important to prevent issues such as mould growth and structural damage. Our team uses high-quality, heated, dry air blown into porous materials through drilled holes or exposed edges to achieve effective drying.

Pressure drying

A technique used to speed up drying where moisture has penetrated the structure. A turbine is used to blow heated, dry air into the affected area, creating positive air pressure which forces moisture out of the structure, resulting in faster and efficient drying.

Suction drying

Also known as negative pressure drying involves a vacuum system to remove moisture from affected areas. Vinci uses high-density HEPA vacuums trapping mould spores, eliminating spores becoming airborne. This method effectively extracts liquid water from porous materials and reduces moisture levels.

HOW WE CAN HELP

Our professional expertise allows us to help identify the true extent of water damage. Several symptoms our teams will look out for include:

- > Water stains/form of white powdery residue
- > Leaking pipes originating directly from the wall
- > Visual damp spots
- > Foul odours, peeling paints or rusty metal fixtures

WATER & FLOOD DAMAGE RESTORATION

Whether it's the result of a relatively minor leak or a catastrophic flood, the water damage restoration process relies on speed, knowledge and technical skill to mitigate the effects quickly and efficiently.

OUR EXPERTISE

Our expert technicians will undertake a comprehensive assessment of your premises to identify the class of water involved:

Our technicians can help identify these risks, as well as the type of water affecting a property:

Class 1

Clean, potable water

Class 2

Grey water (often from a washing machine or dishwasher leak)

Class 3

Black water (sewage or flood water)

Class 4

Contaminated water (such as asbestos, heavy metals, chemicals, etc.)

Before the restoration process can begin, the excess water must be extracted. Our technicians use various methods to remove water from homes and commercial properties. They can advise on the most effective for your situation.

HOW WE CAN HELP

At Vinci Response, we understand that water and flood damage can be devastating and overwhelming for property and business owners. Our experts are equipped with the latest technology and equipment to ensure we can handle any water or flood damage restoration job. We pride ourselves on providing excellent customer service and working closely with our clients to meet their needs.

After extracting the water, our team provides cleaning and sanitising services to handle the situation.

Depending on the scenario, contaminants and microorganisms can be left behind along with sediment and silt, ranging from an escape of water from a main or flash flooding.

MOULD REMEDIATION AND REMOVAL

Vinci Response offers a fast and effective mould remediation service for residential and commercial properties. Whether you have an issue with mould growth on a bedroom wall or a severely affected office space, we can help.

HOW WE CAN HELP

At Vinci Response, we understand the negative impact that mould can have on your health and your property. That's why our mould removal and remediation services are designed to help you eliminate mould and identify the cause, which will help prevent it from returning. Our experienced team uses advanced techniques and equipment to effectively remove mould from your property and treat affected areas to prevent future growth. Let us help you restore your property and breathe easier with our professional mould removal services.

OUR EXPERTISE

We begin by removing surface mould growth using our high-density HEPA-rated vacuum system, which traps mould spores and eliminates the risk of them becoming airborne. We then treat affected areas with a broad-spectrum biocide solution, which targets and eliminates the mould spores and allows for a safe and thorough manual clean.

To ensure complete eradication, we use ULV fogging to release a fine mist of antimicrobial/broad-spectrum biocide into the air, targeting any non-visible, airborne mould spores. This step is critical to preventing future mould growth.

Even once the mould is killed and made inert, the dormant mould spores can still pose health problems. That's why we offer the Biosweep process, which permanently removes indoor bio-contaminants and volatile organic compounds.

Our team is dedicated to ensuring the health and safety of our clients, and we are committed to delivering outstanding results. Contact us today to learn more about how we can help with your mould remediation needs.

FIRE DAMAGE RESTORATION

Fire damage can be very complex, and each situation is different. Whether it's a commercial or residential premise, our team can restore your property, in the event of a fire, to help get it back to its pre-incident condition.

HOW WE CAN HELP

Once you have contacted Vinci Response, we will quickly arrange for one of our senior technicians or project managers to visit your building to complete a thorough site survey and loss assessment. This will help determine the full extent of the damage and allow us to produce a plan to deal with all aspects of remediation and restorative cleaning. Our teams cover the UK, so wherever you are, you can feel confident that we will be able to assist.

OUR EXPERTISE

When materials burn, they can produce fumes and chemicals that are incredibly dangerous to your health.

Materials can also expand in the heat before contracting, and when this happens, soot deposition can become trapped inside. Not only can this cause odour issues, but it can also be hazardous.

We use specialist techniques to remove the after-effects of smoke, soot, odours, and any other particles the fire damage has left behind.

As part of our fire damage restoration services, you can expect our team to:

- Make the building safe to enter
- Extract any water left behind
- Strip out and dispose of materials
- Clean & decontaminate your property
- Remove and store contents
- Manage asbestos

SMOKE DAMAGE CLEANING

With property fires, it's not just the heat that can destroy personal belongings and impact a buildings' structural integrity. Smoke and soot damage can be just as destructive, requiring a professional company to remediate successfully.

OUR EXPERTISE

Fires leave many homes uninhabitable and businesses unable to operate. Apart from the damage caused by heat, smoke can significantly impact a building and the contents within.

At Vinci Response, our highly trained teams can identify the different types of soot present:

Dry Soot

Caused by high oxygen fires, dry soot is comparably easier to remove using a HEPA vacuum and dry-cleaning methods.

Wet Soot: Generally left by low oxygen fires, wet soot sticks to surfaces much more.

Our technicians will also be able to identify any protein, plastic or fuel oil residues which can impact the smoke-damage cleaning methods used.

HOW WE CAN HELP

Our experts will be able to identify the different types of soot deposition that have been present and amend their cleaning strategy accordingly.

While some traces of smoke damage will be evident (such as soot residue), our technicians will also be able to identify some of the less apparent signs of smoke damage on furniture, food and clothing. The team will follow standard health and safety procedures to ensure the work is carried out effectively and promptly, leaving the property clear of smoke damage.

Benefits

- > Fully qualified and accredited professionals
- > Smoke type analysis
- > Peace of mind that all contaminated surfaces will be professionally cleaned and restored

FIRE AND SMOKE ODOUR REMOVAL

Following a building fire, smoke odour can linger for a long time if not promptly dealt with. Vinci Response can offer both commercial and residential customers a complete fire smoke odour removal solution.

OUR EXPERTISE

On arrival, our fire and smoke odour removal specialists will assess the treatment area and determine the most effective and efficient action plan.

Once they have removed any debris, furniture or other objects that may be affected by the odour, they will prepare the area by closing all windows and doors and switching off any ventilation systems.

Using state-of-the-art BioSweep technology that generates ozone, ions and photocatalytic oxidation, the team will use the equipment to eradicate stubborn smoke odours.

Once complete, the technicians will allow the area to air before taking samples to ensure the area is thoroughly cleaned and all traces of odour have been eradicated.

At Vinci Response, we understand the distress that fire, smoke, and odour damage can cause. Our experienced professionals are equipped with the latest technology and techniques to restore your property to its pre-loss condition.
